Iranian Dried Fruits

Drying fruits is a technique with a long history that dates back to centuries ago. Dried fruit & nuts suppliers and wholesalers were mainly popular in Middle East countries, such as Iran, Iraq, and Turkey, to preserve fruits and meats for more extended periods. In today's world, such products are known as one of the most popular snacks worldwide. Iran is one of the leading countries in the Middle East in the production, supply and export of dried fruits. Corresponding companies participate in the global market by drying and producing several different types of dried fruit, such as figs, apricots, apple, kiwi and There is no other option in dried fruits and nuts that can compete with the quality and taste of Iranian dried fruits. One of the major exporters and manufacturers of dried fruits in Iran is DAHfood which has made its path through success and is in the heart of the consumer's thanks to its excellent quality dried fruits.
